

DANDRUFF MAKES
HAIR FALL OUT

25-cent bottle of "Danderine" keeps hair thick, strong, beautiful.

Girls! Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair in few moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and ragged, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—adv.

THE 'FIGHTING 15TH'
MAY WIN ITS TITLE
ON POLITICAL FIELD

Colored Regiment Said to Be Torn Up With Dissension Over Politics.

Up in Harlem those familiar with it call it "The Fighting Fifteenth." Otherwise it's the Fifteenth Regiment of Infantry of the National Guard of New York. Again, otherwise, it's a colored regiment and it would be the only one in the country if it were not for the existence of the Eighth Infantry of Illinois. Its habitat—because it hasn't an armory, but uses Lafayette Hall in West One Hundred and Thirty-first Street and Teutonia Hall in Brooklyn for drill grounds—is mainly in Seventh and Lenox avenues, north of One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street. Its Colonel is Public Service Commissioner William Hayward, the close friend of Gov. Whitman.

If the Fifteenth hasn't fought yet, as a means of earning its sobriquet, there are some who believe it deserves the title if only by reason of the fighting that's going on over it. Col. Hayward says there's no politics in the regiment, at least, if there is he doesn't know anything about it. He won't let any of the members of it even talk politics, he says emphatically.

But what some people do say is nothing less than that the regiment, as yet only a very young son of Mars and Bellona, is going to do its greatest fighting on Nov. 7 proximo, and that it will charge the enemy in an almost solid column—the Republican column. And these same prophets have it that when the din of battle is over on the 8th proximo, there will be just a little less cohesion in the regiment—and a little less day by day thereafter until, like the conjuror's rabbit, it's all gone.

That, of course, isn't Col. Hayward's view. He says the regiment has developed such esprit de corps that it's going to remain a valuable factor in the Guard of this State. Its strength now is 887 men, who have taken the Federal oath and want recognition officially by the Government at Washington. It has only cotton uniforms as yet, with campaign hats and canvas leggings for 600 men, and it has only 500 Springfield rifles, belts and bayonets, but it's full up with enthusiasm, Col. Hayward says.

When Col. Hayward was asked what the proportion of Republicans to Democrats was in the regiment he replied that it was about what the proportion was in the region in Harlem from which it has been recruited. Congressman Murray Hurlbert, who is a candidate for re-election in the Twenty-first Congressional District—the district of "The Fighting Fifteenth"—said it was ten Republicans to one Democrat, as well as he could figure it out.

But Democratic influences are busy as can be in and about the regiment, because it has some staunch Democrats in it, notably Lieut. Napoleon Bonaparte Marshall, who is a Tammany Democrat, and of Capt. Fillmore, who was put into office by President Taft. Ask any Democrats in the regiment if politics have ever been played there. Of course speakers for Gov. Whitman have spoken of his share in bringing the organization into existence.

"But as for politics—well, there isn't any in the Fifteenth. And as for letting it die out—no, there's not a chance. The law creating the regiment, which was signed by Gov. Dix, provides that the Armory Board of the City of New York shall—yes, it's mandatory—provide quarters for it. Why, I'll wager I could buy an armory site for it right up there in Harlem for $200,000. Oh, no, you mark me, that regiment is going to live."

Now for what Congressman Murray Hurlbert has to say about "The Fighting Fifteenth." He's strongly in favor of it, and has even made a speech in the House of Representatives extolling the negro as a soldier and a sailor.

"The regiment," he said to-day, "has always been fostered by the Democratic Party. I know its strength is Republican, but I'm for it just the same. And let me say this, if the Republican Party is using the organization as a bugaboo or any other way, and then shows lack of interest in it after Election Day, it will be such a boomerang as you never saw before. I believe it would switch in a moment. Some time or other the Armory Board is going to be asked for housing for the regiment, permanent home, and all that, and then you'll see who's sincere and who isn't. That will tell the tale."

Several prominent constituents of mine," Mr. Hurlbert went on, "whose attention had been called to my speech in the House opposing the bill of Congressman Caraway of Kansas to prevent the enlistment of colored men in the navy and army, called on me last Monday. They told me the Fifteenth had not been formally recognized by the Federal Government, and I felt I should bring the matter to the attention of Secretary of War Baker. I am certain that he would be the last man to permit any interference of discrimination against the Fifteenth. So I have brought the subject to the attention of the War Department and I am trying to arrange a conference with Secretary Baker when he passes through New York after his speaking tour in Ohio."
